The World Wheat Situation

People who had the privilege of listening to Premier Bennett's speech before the members of the Montreuil Board of Trade at the banquet tendered to him on his return from attending the World's Economic Conference, and the Wheat Conference of the leading wheat exporting and importing countries which followed the larger world gathering, undoubtedly learned many things about world matters, and especially wheat, which were entirely new to them and must have impressed them with the magnitude of the problem which now confronts Canada in disposing of its chief article of export—wheat.

Prior to the Great War, Canada was rapidly forging ahead to first place among the wheat exporting nations of the world. Gradually the United States, which had been the great exporter, was relinquishing her position as a wheat exporter and more and more rapidly approaching the stronger economic position where her production of wheat would be more than sufficient to meet her own domestic requirements. In fact, it was confidently stated by persons in authority that in a few years the United States would be a wheat-importing rather than a wheat-exporting nation.

Canada, Australia and the Argentine found their markets in Great Britain and the principal countries of continental Europe, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Holland, Belgium, all of which countries took large quantities of imported wheat either directly from the country of origin, or indirectly through the London and Liverpool markets. Then came the Great War. Wheat was in greater demand than ever. Europe was willing to pay almost any price to get it. To meet the demand of the Allied nations it was urged as a patriotic duty upon the people of Canada, equal almost to enlisting in the army, to raise wheat and more wheat. Great production of food-stuffs was the slogan, and the most intensive organization was directed to bringing about that larger production. The United States again turned to quota production of wheat because of the prevailing high prices and unlimited market.

The war taught the nations of Europe the lesson of the importance of being able to feed their people in times of war or other emergency. Germany learned the lesson, Italy learned it, and while not directly involved in the war, Spain learned it through the high price she had to pay for wheat and other imported food commodities.

For a time after the war, while the necessary work of reconstruction of their countryside and industrial towns and cities was under way, the countries of Europe still offered a good market for imported wheat and at a high price. But the governments of those countries organized to raise more wheat, meet their own requirements and thus safeguard themselves against starvation on the one hand, or the possibility of being required to pay excessively high prices on the other hand in the event of a further war or world emergency. They offered bonuses to their farmers to produce wheat, they fixed uneconomic high prices for domestic grown wheat, they imposed prohibitive tariffs on imported wheat, they arbitrarily governed all imports, and fixed minimum quantities of imported wheat that might be used by millers and in the making of bread.

Premier Bennett outlined the effect of these things in his speech. The four great wheat exporting nations are Canada, Argentina, Australia and the United States, the chief of which is Canada, while the great wheat importing nations are generally listed as being Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain. But Premier Bennett pointed out, whereas European countries in 1930 produced approximately 900,000,000 bushels of wheat, in 1933, just three years later, they produced 1,220,000,000 bushels, an increase of 320,000,000 bushels.

Even more illuminating was Premier Bennett's statement that this year France will produce between 75,000,000 and 100,000,000 bushels of wheat than Canada; Italy will produce 75,000,000 bushels more than Canada; Germany and Spain combined will produce 125,000,000 bushels more than Canada. These countries were the former buyers of our Canadian wheat; now they are producing more than Canada.

Mr. F. R. Murphy, who was the United States Government delegate to the wheat conference in London, gives the wheat production of these four European countries this year as 1,015,000,000 bushels, against Canada's estimated crop of 300,000,000 bushels, Argentina's 220,000,000 bushels, Australia's 174,000,000 bushels, and United States' 499,000,000 bushels. In other words, these four European countries will produce almost as much wheat this year as the four chief exporting nations. In addition, the Danubian countries—Hungary, Rumania, Jugoslavia and Bulgaria—will produce in the neighborhood of 327,000,000 bushels. Russia is steadily increasing her wheat production and, while unquestionably her own people need it, the Soviet authorities nevertheless export large quantities in order to finance necessary purchases abroad.

In the face of this situation, brought about, so Premier Bennett declared, by a combination of things expressed in one little four-letter word, Fear—fear of starvation in the event of another war which contingency is still hanging over Europe, and fear of ransom, or, in other words, of being again compelled to pay excessively high prices for imported wheat in order to stave off starvation—the World wheat conference entered into an agreement which provides on the one hand for a limitation of exports of wheat from the chief exporting nations and a reduction in the acreage sown to wheat by the four largest exporters of wheat, and on the other hand, for no further increase in production by European countries, except Russia, for a removal of some of the restrictions now imposed by European countries designed to reduce the consumption of wheat by the use of substitutes, and for an eventual reduction in the tariffs now imposed on imported wheat when the price reaches a certain stipulated figure.

Admittedly this agreement is in the nature of an experiment. Whether it will prove practical in actual operation remains to be seen, because there are many factors which enter into the calculation entirely beyond the control of man. However, the facts and figures here presented are undoubtedly of vital interest to the people of Western Canada and provide much food for serious thinking and planning on their part.

"Did you get it back?"
"Yes."

Progress in New Gold Fields

Large Amount of Work Done On Labrador Claims
Remarkable progress has been made already in the Labrador gold-fields, according to Hon. W. C. Stewart, Newfoundland's Minister of Agriculture and Mines, who has returned to St. John's from the Lake Wabush district.

He was accompanied on the expedition by Dr. O. K. Smeig, geologist, and J. W. Foote, mining engineer. All three seemed enthusiastic about the future of Labrador.

They reported that of the 22 concessions granted by the Newfoundland government since the Labrador was opened to prospectors last fall, nearly one-half are being actively investigated by field parties. The Lake Wabush camp, which is reached after a 200-mile aeroplane trip from Seven Islands, Quebec, had a population of 39 when they left.

Mr. Walsh and his party spent a week in the interior. They said flies were unusually scarce. Unsettled weather conditions had interfered somewhat with the work of the field parties but despite this a remarkable amount of work had been accomplished.

Husband Persuaded Her To Take Kruschen

By following her husband's advice, this woman made a tremendous improvement in her appearance—she actually lost 32 lbs. of her excess fat. Telling of her experience, she writes—

"A year ago I was troubled with rheumatism, nervousness and other complaints. And I got so fat that I was ashamed of my figure. I was persuaded by my husband to take Kruschen Salts. Before I began, I weighed 161 lbs. After taking Kruschen for a short time the rheumatism was less painful, my nerves got stronger, and my step lighter. Then I knew that Kruschen was doing me good, so I persevered with it and got my weight down to 129 lbs., a reduction of 32 lbs. of unwanted fat. I am not boasting when I say that I feel younger and more active, have a much better figure and am healthier than I have been for years."—(Mrs. J. S.)

Kruschen is a blend of six mineral salts which assists the internal organs to throw off each day those wastes which tend to accumulate and accumulate in the form of fatty tissue.

Founded Centuries Ago

History Of Bavarian City Dates Back For 1,700 Years

In this year of centuries, tricenariens and bicentenariens all over the world, the Bavarian host of Weissenburg are inviting all and sundry to celebrate with them the 1,700th anniversary of their city's founding.

It was back in 233 that the hardy local tribesmen first broke through the fortified military road built by the Romans, destroyed the citadel, and built with its stones a castle called the Wizinburg. Fragments of the city wall erected at that time, with 31 towers and a number of big gates, still remain. The stronger gates, in particular, is considered one of the finest medieval structures of its kind in all Germany.

Miniature Paintings

Microscope Needed To See Fine Work Of English Artist

Painter of miniatures so small that 20 of them will fit on a postage stamp, Stanley A. Burchett, of London, formerly of the Grenadier Guards, claims that they are the smallest pictures in the world. Two, about an eighth of a postage stamp in size, have been purchased by the queen. One is a seascape showing a sailing vessel at dawn, and the other a still-life of marginals in a blue vase.

To appreciate the pictures fully it is necessary to use a microscope. Many find it difficult to believe that the miniatures are real water-colors painted with a brush.
Dentistry In Olden Times
Even the ancient Egyptian had to be told to "open wide" and probably had trouble with his false teeth dropping out occasionally, according to Dr. J. K. Lowry, McGill University specialist in his branch of dentistry. He told of dental work done by the Egyptians as early as 3400 B.C., in a talk before a local service club. He also described known traces of dentistry among the Greeks, Etruscans and the Romans.

Prototype Kilogram Valuable

Only About Thirty Standard Measures Are In Existence

A secret mission in the charge of a high official of the London Board of Trade, recently took first, to Paris and then to Sevres, the "British prototype kilogram."

This is Britain's official copy of the "international standard kilogram," on which all metric and scientific measures of weight are based.

At Sevres, which is the home of the international committee of weights and measures, the "British prototype" was compared with the international standard.

These comparisons have been made only once before since 1889.

The international and the British kilograms were weighed against each other on a balance sensitive to a hundredth part of a milligram. There are 28,350 milligrams to an ounce.

The prototype is made of a platinum alloy called iridio-platinum. In spite of the high resistance of this metal to external influences the British kilogram could have changed its weight, by a few hundredths of a milligram or so. If minute changes occur they are reported to parliament.

Plans for the journey were kept secret lest bandits might attempt to steal the prototype. A kilogram of iridio-platinum is worth several hundred pounds sterling as metal alone, while a "prototype kilogram" is naturally worth far more than its principal metal, for there are only about 30 in existence—one for each of the principal nations.

Military Command Changes

Toronto Officer Goes To Victoria To Take Over Military District

Major-General E. C. Ashton, C.M.G., V.D., district officer commanding military district No. 2, Toronto, is leaving shortly for Victoria where he will take over military district No. 11, which includes the province of British Columbia and the Yukon Territory.

Brig-General T. V. Anderson, D.S.O., district officer commanding military district No. 10, with headquarters at Winnipeg, replaces Major-General Ashton at Toronto, and is understood Brigadier W. B. Bean, D.S.O., whose appointment to command military district No. 11 became effective a short time ago, will go to Winnipeg to succeed Brig-General Anderson.

Long Trip For Biplanes

British Machines To Fly 12,000 Miles Over Africa

Three large British troop-carrying biplanes are detailed to make later this year the longest, and most ambitious of journeys, a round trip of 12,000 miles from Cairo in the east to Bathurst and Dakar in the west. Their route goes south as far as Khartoum and thence westwards over French Equatorial Africa, Nigeria, the Gold and Ivory Coasts, Sierra Leone, the Gambia and Senegal. They will fly over thousands of square miles of territory which were unexplored less than a generation ago.

France has ruled that motion picture films in foreign languages can be shown in only 15 theatres in the country.

A new high-speed passenger and mail plane in Germany has a speed of 226 miles.

Freight Car Was Elusive

Ex-Sergeant Proved He Did Not Abuse His Post

An ex-sergeant brought an atmosphere of comic relief into the military tribunal at Paris, which is still hearing appeals from war-time court-martial sentences when he successfully appealed against a sentence passed in 1918 of 15 days' imprisonment for twice abandoning his post.

Sergeant Nigon was ordered to escort a freight car containing 5,000 gas masks. When the convoy stopped for the night he went to sleep, and when he awoke up the box-car had disappeared.

The railway authorities assured him it would come back. It turned up two days later.

He was then told the train would proceed again next morning but when he looked for it again it had disappeared. Eventually he discovered it had arrived at its destination without the loss of a single gas mask.

In reply to questions he said he did not sleep in the box-car because a soldier was only allowed to sleep in a horse car during the war. If he had slept next to it on the track he would have been run over. He did not get inside because if he had done so they would not have been able to shut the door. He declared he did not abandon his post because a post is a fixed point and the box-car was a movable object.

"It was a phantom car," he said. "It kept disappearing."

He was acquitted and the sentence quashed.

Air Permeated With Gas

Carbon Monoxide From Cars Menace To Human Life

Subjected to a "gas-attack" of increasing intensity from automobile exhausts, residents of large cities may some day "require the wearing of gas-masks in self-defence," says Sir W. I. DeC. Wheeler, medico-aecologist, who is an honorary fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Light on the unseen effects of the motor-car upon human life was thrown by Sir William at the meeting of the British Medical Association in Dublin.

Permeation of the atmosphere with gases from autos accounts for an unaccounted portion of the annual death rate, he said.

"The blood of traffic policemen has been found to be charged with carbon monoxide at a high concentration, and the blood of those who constantly motor in cities must be similarly polluted."

An Interesting Swap

United States Museums Trade Specimens Of Extinct Birds

The Carnegie Museum now has a great auk and the National Museum at Washington has a cahow—most of a cahow anyway—and therein lies a tale of barter among scientists.

For one mounted skeleton of a great auk, the Carnegie Museum gave the National Museum a "practically complete skeleton of a cahow."

Both the great auk and the cahow are—or were—birds, now extinct. The auk, a native of Bermuda familiar to crossward puzzle people, was a very large bird which moved around at night and buried itself in the sand by day.

The cahow, a pretty large bird too, stayed in the far north.

Tornadoes are the swiftest of winds, travelling as fast as 400 or 500 miles an hour.

Chance Meeting Recalls

Rescue During War

Ship Inspector Meets Sailor He Saved

A thrilling rescue in the days when British ships carried on a hazardous trade along routes infested with mines and German "subs" was recalled at Montreal harbor when Captain R. H. Monks, deputy port warden, noticed in the "Clair Allier" in the course of an inspection.

Accused by a member of the crew who asked if he remembered him, Captain Monks found himself unable to recall who the man was. The seaman then proceeded to identify himself as the man whose life the Montreal port official had saved during the Great War when Captain Monks' ship had been torpedoed off the Irish coast. About to jump into the sea, the remaining lifeboat, the ship's master heard groans from some place on the deck. Returning he found a member of the crew, badly wounded. Picking the man up, Captain Monks carried him to the lifeboat only a minute before a terrific explosion sent the ship to the bottom.

After two days on open sea they were picked up by an American destroyer and taken to an Irish port, where the wounded man was given treatment.

Has Radio Wave Pains

Tacoma Dairyman Is Obligated To Ground Himself To Obtain Relief

Scientists have started an investigation into the unique case of Martin Bodker, dairyman in the Tacoma district, who suffers intense pains from radio waves unless he grounds himself.

Tacoma and Seattle specialists have declared they were baffled. Bodker some years ago began to suffer intense pain. Physicians could find nothing wrong with him, but the pains much like rheumatism, persisted in time to time.

When he put his hands on a water faucet while suffering pains, and they immediately vanished. When he took his hand off the faucet the pains returned. Bodker wrapped a cane with copper wire, bored a hole through the floor of his living room, and "grounded" himself.

The case was brought to the attention of Los Angeles physicians by one of Bodker's relatives living there, and Bodker was persuaded to go to that city.

DEMOCRACY IS ON TRIAL IN CANADA AS NEVER BEFORE

Newmarket, Ont.—"Democracy is on trial as never before since it became a form of government," Prime Minister R. B. Bennett declared here recently in addressing the Liberal-Conservative summer school. The Premier rushed here from two speaking engagements in Toronto to address the students.

In recent years democracies have fallen in Italy, Germany, and Egypt," he said. "The substitution for the will of the people the will of the dictator has come about." "I am a democrat," he said, "and I believe that man has not been able to evolve a better system than democracy for the good of the country."

The Prime Minister was welcomed by throngs of students at the gate of Pickering College, where the school sessions are being held. J. Earl Lawson, Toronto member of parliament and chairman of the school, extended a formal welcome. Once within, however the school reassured its prevailing informality.

The defects of democracy Mr. Bennett said are well known and it is realized that its dangers are and the steps that should be taken to overcome them.

"I suppose you realize the counting of heads is resorted to to determine vital issues of a democracy. But when counting heads would not be utilized for any other purpose. In agriculture in almost every activity in which man engages, merit is determined by scientific process. For government by democracy, he who can count the most heads in the 'ring' is the man to whom the most merit goes."

"Do you ever think what that means? As you have a majority of people untrained, the fate of nations is in the hands of untrained people. The result is appalling to think of. I need not recall to you the evolution of the franchise. Property was the early criterion of the right to vote."

"But man's mind has always been active that he should share in government of his country and restrictions of property on his exercising his franchise was altered."

"Some of you may recall the correspondence between Cardinal Newman and the poet Tennyson. You will recall that Newman pointed out the power vested in a great mass that had not the proper sense of responsibility. What is our answer, the answer of the 20th century? We say the only hope lies in education in informing the citizen."

"My business is to satisfy myself that my views are better than his views in running the affairs of this country. 'Don't be worried by men who accuse this line or that line. My aim is to find the methods of best forwarding the interest of this country. If the other man's means are better than mine, I'll admit them.'"

"I resent very greatly the definition of a Conservative in some recent newspapers. It means we do not believe that is good and reject all that is bad. And our intelligence and training tell us what we will save."

Progress, the Prime Minister said, consists of frank recognition of evil and its elimination.

May Remove Restrictions

Rumor That Pegged Price On Grain Will Be Rescinded

Winnipeg, Man.—"Rumor is current that the 'peg' will be withdrawn from the wheat market in the near future," states The Winnipeg Free Press in a news page story.

"Officials of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange are silent on the subject but others prominent in the trade believe the price restrictions will be removed at an early date," the paper adds.

Minimum prices for wheat and oats were established August 15 by vote of the exchange membership. The October wheat future was "pegged" at 70½¢; December, 71½¢, and May, 73½¢ per bushel, "abnormal conditions surrounding other markets" were given as reason for the action. A vote of the general membership of the exchange will be necessary to rescind the resolution adopted last month.

Reclus Had Fortune

Lethbridge, Alta.—Nikolai Chyzyne lived as a recluse in a little shack here although he had $10,000 cash in the bank. After he died it was revealed he had drawn from the bank only $200 between the years 1908 and 1921.

Backs Western Farmers

Higher Reward For Services Necessary States Hon. J. F. Bryant

Toronto, Ont.—"The farmers of western Canada are not a bunch of 'Reds' although a few 'Reds' are found in their ranks," Hon. James F. Bryant, Minister of Public Works and Acting Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan, told the directors' luncheon of the Canadian National Exhibition. He said they are trying to bring about better conditions in rural life.

"They have seen the dawn of a new day, and in any matter which affects agriculture the voice of the western farmer will be heard," declared the minister. The farmer who endeavors to live on his own farm the means of livelihood for himself and his family, and does not wish to gain wealth, is as a rule in a comfortable position during the present economic conditions.

"It is not production, but distribution, that is the chief difficulty. Falling prices have failed to check the excessive demand for supplies and there is a growing belief among our farmers that something is radically wrong with rural life," said Mr. Bryant. "Agriculture must receive a higher reward for services rendered."

Forest Fires In Manitoba

Settlers And Summer Campers Forced To Leave Homes

Winnipeg, Man.—Fire-fighting resources of Manitoba have been taxed to the limit to check forest fires scattered across eastern and central Manitoba. Outbreaks were reported from 21 districts. Chief concern, however, was felt for the blaze which roared over a five-mile front between Rennie and Whitehorn, in the southern portion of the province.

Motorists returning to the city found driving between Rennie and Whitehorn difficult and precarious. Dense smoke from smouldering peat beds obscured the highway. Automobiles crawled along through the murky pall with windows closed to keep out choking fumes. More than 100 men patrolled the fire zone, the blaze being reported under control.

Families of settlers and summer campers were evacuated from the danger zone. Only the men remained behind to keep a watchful eye over a fire that destroyed valuable timber stands, razed the station and section house at Rennie, and threatened small settlements before rain came to the aid of forest rangers.

British Farmers Favor National Milk Pool

Overwhelming Majority Shown When Vote Was Taken

London, England.—British farmers have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a national dairy pool. The result of the poll showed 96.42 per cent. in favor and 3.58 per cent. opposed. A two-thirds majority was necessary.

With its national and regional pools the scheme will be one of the biggest undertakings in the United Kingdom. Farmers will sell their milk through the pools which will divide the proceeds among participating farmers according to the amount of milk each delivers.

The national board which will be in charge, will be responsible not only for marketing and supply contracts but will also have the task of utilizing surplus milk for cheese-making and the manufacture of dry milk on a large scale. The board assumes control October 1 for a trial period until the new year when the scheme itself becomes operative.

The scheme applies to England and Wales.

New York Flyer Wrecked

Fourteen Passengers Killed And Many Injured In Collision

Binghamton, N.Y.—Fourteen persons were killed and 25 others injured, some of them so seriously they are expected to die, as a milk train travelling at a fast speed ploughed into a Chicago to New York flyer of the Erie Railroad at the city's eastern outskirts. The flyer, en route to New York, had been stopped by a switch engine at work ahead.

All of the dead were taken from a wooden coach that sandwiched between cars of steel, and three cars from the end of the flyer telescoped like an accordion.

M. H. King, of Elmira, engineer of the milk train, running between Hornell and Hoboken, said: "I didn't see the signal light in time to stop. It happened too quickly. We were coming around a curve."

Vice-President R. E. Woodruff, of the Erie Railroad, said the engineer of the milk train was aware he did not have a clear track.

Accepts Important Post

Saskatchewan University Professor Goes To Carnegie Institute At Pittsburgh

Saskatoon, Sask.—Dr. Lloyd L. Dines, professor of mathematics at the University of Saskatchewan, for the past 15 years, and for the past two years administrative head of the junior college there, has accepted the position of head of the Department of Mathematics at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, at Pittsburgh. President W. C. Murray announces. The position carries a greatly increased salary.

Dr. Dines has long been known as one of the leading mathematicians in Canada and as honored as a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada in recognition of his successful research work. He was highly appreciated here as a teacher and administrator. He received his training at the University of Chicago.

Professor D. B. Delury will continue Dr. Dines' classes in mathematics during the coming year, Dr. Murray intimated.

CUBANS MUST RESTORE ORDER SAYS ROOSEVELT

Washington.—President Roosevelt threw a protective squadron of warships around Cuba while his secretary of the navy hurried aboard the cruiser "Indianapolis" to Annapolis, for a quick journey to the capital of the island republic.

The president had a company of marines in readiness at Quantico, Va., but he was withholding intervention as the last resort to restore order in the island.

The battleship "Mississippi" steamed down the Atlantic coast to stand by off Key West. Six or eight other craft, including a cruiser, destroyers and submarines were within striking distance of such ports as Guantanamo, Santiago and Havana.

Washington.—Amid fresh reports of Cuban disturbances President Roosevelt called for the speedy establishment of a government to maintain order in the island republic.

Mr. Roosevelt outlined the United States policy to the diplomatic representatives of south and central America who were called to the White House while American warships were concentrating about the troubled island.

To the spokesmen from the neighboring republics, he declared it was the desire of the United States to avoid intervention and that everything possible to make this unnecessary was being done. He said the key to the American policy toward Cuba in this crisis was that the Cuban people obtain as rapidly as possible a government of their own choosing and, equally important, a government that would maintain order.

Have Returned To Ottawa

Ottawa, Ont.—After three months' absence, some of which they spent in western Canada, the Governor-General and Countess of Beasbrough have returned to the capital. They were accompanied by their elder son, Lord Duncannon, and their daughter, Lady Moyra Ponsonby.

A SCENE FROM THE WHEAT CONFERENCE

Our picture was taken after one of the hectic sessions of the World Wheat Conference in which delegates from thirty-four nations sought an opportunity for an international agreement on wheat production. The main figure in the group coming out of Canada House is that of Right Hon. Stanley Bruce, chief delegate from Australia, who played a big part in the proceedings, which concluded harmoniously.

SIDNEY T. SMITH

President of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, who announced the "pegging" of wheat prices for the first time in the history of the Exchange, said the "peg" would remain until the market is stabilized.

Project Has Been Success

Colonization Of Special Kind Working Well In Quebec

Quebec, Que.—The Grancher system of placing with farmers and their families healthy children from city homes where there are cases of tuberculosis was introduced last year by the Quebec Bureau of Health, and according to Hon. Athanasie David, provincial secretary, the experiment has been successful. "The children have become attached to country life and have no wish to return to the city, and in a number of cases the farmers have gone to the extent of legally adopting the children. This is a good kind of colonization," said Mr. David, who has been delving into the doings of the provincial bureau of health since his return to work after a few months abroad.

The Grancher system gets its name from the fact Professor Grancher, now deceased, organized this system of family placement 30 years ago at a time when public attention in France was turned to the scourge of tuberculosis. The work still goes on in France but it is done under private initiative on the basis laid down by Professor Grancher, and funds are also provided by private purses. Mr. David studied this system in France and launched the project in Quebec without waiting for private initiative to start the work.

Subject To Penalty

Calgary, Alta.—Out of Calgary's 2,200 married jobs, 1,711 are subject to a penalty, which came into effect September 1, because they are behind 100 hours or more on their work cards which contain their record of employment on relief jobs. Many are appealing their cases before relief officials who have started a close check on men refusing to work in return for relief granted.

Three Children Burned

Quyon, Que.—Three children, Kathleen, Olive and Felix Jean-Marie, were burned here when they dropped a match in a tin can filled with gunpowder. They suffered serious burns and were rushed to hospital at Ottawa. The can of gunpowder had been hidden away in the bottom of a cupboard 25 years ago.

Fulfilling Pledges Of Economy

Nova Scotia's New Premier Gets Down To Business

Halifax, N.S.—Less than 12 hours after his inauguration as Nova Scotia's premier, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald announced his new cabinet's first order-in-council had been a proclamation having major effect the introduction of the Nova Scotia, Old Age Pensions Act, passed in 1931. He disclosed also the cabinet's initial moves towards fulfilling pre-election pledges of economy.

Estimated savings of $25,000 annually were effected through abolition of two deputy ministerial posts—those of agriculture and health—and reduction in the number of liquor commissioners from two to one.

In addition, the cabinet appointed three of its members as a committee to ascertain means of further reducing expenditures of government.

Indian Chief Well Known

Head Of Sioux Tribe Dies After Long Illness

Prince Albert.—Chief George Kin-yewakwak, of Graveland, Man., head of the Sioux Indians in Canada for many years, passed away recently at the Royal Plain Indian reserve and was buried September 2, according to word reaching here. The 74-year-old Indian chief was visiting Sioux friends in the reserve and he became ill on August 20 after having assisted in chieftaincy. He had been suffering for years from an internal ailment. Chief Kin-yewakwak was one of the best known Indians in Canada. He was one of the central figures in the colorful Winnipeg Board of Trade celebration in 1920, held in honor of veteran Red River settlers and trail blazers of the Canadian northwest. He was a successful farmer at Graveland.

Loading At Churchill

S.S. Gardania May Be Last Vessel To Take On Cargo This Season

Churchill, Man.—Elevator machinery hummed here with the arrival of the S.S. Gardania to take on what may be the last cargo of grain to be shipped from Manitoba's northern port this season.

With her arrival in port, preparations for loading 230,000 bushels of grain were immediately under way and when the "Gardania" steams out of the harbor, the 2,000,000-bushel government elevator will have less than a ship's cargo in store. The leftover will total only 38,000 bushels of wheat. She is the ninth vessel to take an overseas grain cargo from the Hudson Bay port this season.

MACHINE AGE NOT TO BLAME FOR ECONOMIC ILLS

Leicester, England.—Applied science, Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins told the British Association for the Advancement of Science, "should take no blame" for the paradox of poverty amidst plenty and the replacement of human labor by machinery.

Sir Frederick, head of the association, made the statement during his presidential address in which he outlined the strides of science in describing life in terms of chemistry.

"It is not within my capacity," he continued, "to say anything about the paradox and its cure, but I confess that I see more present danger in the case of 'money versus man' than danger present or future in that of the 'machine versus man.'"

Concerning the replacement of human labor, he said: "It is surely right that those in touch with science should insist that it will continue. It need not involve a revolutionary change if there is real planning for the future. No one can say what kind of equilibrium the distribution of leisure is fated to reach. In any case an optimistic view as to the probable effects of its increase may be justified."

Sir Frederick referred to words of Sir Alfred Ewing, which he said were still being echoed—that the command of nature has been put into man's hand before he knows how to command himself."

"I confess," he declared, "that if civilization escapes its other perils, I should fear little the final reign of the machine. We should not altogether forget the difference in what can be made of real and ideal leisure compared with that possible for very brief leisure associated with fatigue, nor the difference between compulsory toil and spontaneous work."

BETTER TIMES INDICATED IN TRADE REPORT

Montreal, Que.—Because, in a general way, Canada's rise to and fall from good times has lagged in point of time behind that of other leading countries, because of the Dominion's power to resist depression, of its efforts to meet the difficult economic situation, of its co-operative ability and of improving world conditions, "the Dominion in the comparatively near future may enter more peaceful waters in which the bargues of industry and commerce may again set sail for better times."

This is the conclusion of an exhaustive analysis of Canadian conditions during 1932-33 contained in the report on economic conditions in Canada published by F. W. Fleet, his majesty's senior trade commissioner in Canada and Newfoundland, and made public Thursday, Sept. 7.

Efforts to meet depression may have to be intensified before normalcy returns, says the report. But "two factors that appear likely to pull the Dominion out of the worldwide depression are, firstly, the nation's own efforts—and opinion seems to be unanimous that these must be of a drastic character—and, secondly, the general improvement in world conditions which naturally will and sharp reflections in Canada's trade, industry and business."

The report, some 300 pages long, includes a detailed study of the financial position, the tariff, social questions, production, industry, transportation and trade.

Favorable and unfavorable influences on the Canadian wheat situation are listed, the report concluding that generally a foundation for better things during the 1933-34 crop year had been built. "A much stronger position appears to be developing," the report says.

"History of the government's assistance to the wheat pools is given and on this point, the report concludes: 'In the view of the government, the steadiness which has developed in the wheat market has undoubtedly vindicated the action taken. The question of ultimate liability will depend entirely upon the future course of wheat prices.'"

High Quality Of Wheat

Samples Of New Crop Show High Protein Content

Winnipeg, Man.—Protein content of the first samples of new crop western Canada wheat is on a par with the average for last year, laboratory tests announced recently, reveal. The content is slightly lower than the first-run last year in Manitoba, but higher in Saskatchewan, according to a report prepared by T. A. Aiken, head of the grain research laboratory of the board of grain commissioners.

Alberta wheat was not available in sufficient quantity to permit a test. Maximum content of 12 samples of No. 1 hard from Manitoba and 66 from Saskatchewan is shown at 17.2 per cent, while the average content is 13.9 and 14.7 per cent for the respective provinces.

The average of 344 samples of No. 1 northern from Manitoba was 13.6, while 319 samples from Saskatchewan averaged 14.9 per cent.

Want Game Guardians

Calgary, Alta.—Appointment of a body of game guardians in Alberta to handle protection of game now done by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was suggested to the provincial government by the Alberta Fish and Game Association in annual convention here. Steps to prohibit shooting of all migratory birds with rifles and modern high power pneumatic guns also was urged.

Heads Medical Council

Ottawa, Ont.—Dr. R. H. Arthur, of Sudbury, Ont., was elected president of the Medical Council of Canada at its annual meeting here, succeeding Dr. W. A. Thomas of Regina. The council is the governing medical board for the Dominion and has the final say on the examinations which must be passed before a doctor may practice in Canada.

Freight Rate Increase In U.S.

Washington.—United States railroads have notified the interstate commerce commission that, effective October 1, when the emergency freight surcharges authorized two years ago expire, they will put into effect an increase in rates on scores of commodities on which experimental rate reductions had been made to meet truck competition.

ROAD HOGS

There are road hogs and road hogs. There's the fellow who comes at you 50 miles an hour and keeps his left wheels well over the middle of the road, and you have to run perilously near the ditch to escape a crash. Then, there's the truck driver who, as a Lethbridge cad recently said, was possessed of a truck mind and just naturally thinks that, because he is making his living on the road, he should have three-quarters of it. And then there's the timid individual, Mr. Milkwater, who is afraid to drive over 25 miles an hour, and who hugs squarely the middle of the road, looking neither to right or left. You come up behind him, toot your horn, and he refuses to hear. One of these caused a nasty accident in the East in which Hon. Ernest Lapointe was badly injured recently. In trying to pass, Mr. Lapointe's car was crowded to the ditch and wrecked.—Lethbridge Herald-Left-Hand Corner.

J. Swinerton, of Macleod, was a visitor to Blairmore on Wednesday.

The public is warned to go very warily in subscribing to magazines through transient solicitors. A number who have solicited magazine subscriptions have skipped gaily out with the money, and left their victims waiting in vain for the magazine. While there are doubtless honest magazine solicitors, there are on the other hand a number who are working a racket. So the best plan is to order subscriptions through local agencies.

Great interest is being taken by music lovers of Cranbrook and Kimberley in the forthcoming festival to be held in Blairmore on October 26, 27, 28, and prospects are that a very large number of competitors will be here from that point. Already, assurance is given that choirs, orchestras, vocalists and instrumentalists in very large numbers will be down, and are practicing almost continually right now. On Tuesday night of this week, a banquet was held in the K.P. hall, Cranbrook, attended by leading musicians of the district, at which the opinion was expressed that a record crowd would be here. The banquet was intended as a get-together affair, to permit of mapping out a programme for the trip and competitions. Mr. J. E. Upton, who happened to be in Cranbrook at the time, attended the banquet.

At a meeting of the Library Board on Tuesday evening, reports indicated that unless the town came through with the regular semi-annual grant it may be necessary to close down the library. The library has been in operation for several years, being set on foot through the energies of Mr. J. E. Gillis and Rev. J. W. Smith. The membership has been steadily growing, and books from the library are being read extensively. The library today has about 3500 books on the shelves, most of which were secured at no cost to the town or the readers. For the past two years, substantial grants of from $200 to $500 have been received from the town, but indications point to a possible discontinuance of this support, so that it will become necessary to look to some other source for revenue to support the town's most worth while institution. A disputation from Tuesday's meeting will wait upon the town council in the near future.

THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION WAS RECENTLY ADOPTED:

Resolved that this Executive Committee of The Social Service Council of Canada has long been of opinion that the system of dealing with criminals in operation in Canada is antiquated, inefficient and cruel. It finds that at present there is widespread uneasiness with regard to the treatment of prisoners in some of the penal institutions of our country. This uneasiness is due in part to serious disturbances which took place in two penitentiaries, to the facts brought out in evidence at the trials of some of the inmates involved in these disturbances, and to certain definite and serious charges made by well-known former inmates of one of these institutions. In addition, there are on record the findings of the Royal Commission of 1912, and of a Committee to Advise on Revision of Penitentiary Regulations of 1921. In their report the Commission stated: "It is a policy based on revenge, mistrust and fear."

The committee of 1921 stated: "Speaking for themselves, the members of the committee would not, before undertaking this investigation, have believed that the penitentiary system could have been as needlessly cruel as it in fact is." The executive regrets that for so many years important recommendations by the government-appointed bodies have been ignored by successive governments at Ottawa. The executive notes with satisfaction the statement of General Ormond, the superintendent of penitentiaries, showing that recently certain reforms, some of which were recommended by the committee, have been effected, but is strongly of opinion that these reforms (as stated) do not deal with the fundamental defects of the system.

The executive believes:

1. That there is urgent need of a thorough investigation, not only of our penal institutions, but of the entire system of dealing with delinquents and criminals, including the administration of justice, imposing of sentences and classification and treatment of prisoners.

2. That it is the duty of the Dominion Government at the earliest possible moment to appoint a non-partisan commission of competent persons to make such an investigation and to recommend such measures as are necessary to increase the efficiency of our methods of dealing with crime, having in mind two chief objectives: (a) the protection of society, and (b) the reformation, so far as possible, of the criminals.

It is further resolved that this executive appoint a committee, with power to add to its numbers, who shall present this matter to the Dominion Government and press for immediate action. That this committee be instructed to seek at once the co-operation of all religious bodies and other organizations and individuals interested in this matter.

BELEVUE HAPPENINGS

Walter Warn, Junior, and Ken McDonald returned home Sunday, after a two-weeks' vacation in Vancouver. Mrs. R. Shevels and Miss B. Radford returned Sunday afternoon from Vancouver, where they had been holidaying for two weeks.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hutton was moved from Lime City to town on Saturday last.

Miss Margaret Hallworth entertained a number of friends on Thursday evening at bridge. The party was given in honor of her sister, Mrs. O'Grady, of Vancouver.

The Bellevue football team defeated Coleman at Blairmore in an exciting tussle for the Maza cup, the score being 2-0. The last time this cup was in Bellevue was in 1922. We understand the local club will be honored by a smoker in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hampson and son Dale, and Miss H. Emmerson, left for Calgary on Tuesday morning.

Albert Goodwin and Matt Parker are spending a few days fishing in the North Fork.

A very pleasant evening was spent at a shower given in honor of Mrs. J. L. Cousens on Wednesday evening in the I.O.O.F. hall. Mrs. Cousens received a beautiful floor lamp from the ladies.

A Fox and a Crow were united in marriage in Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Greenfield, wife of former premier of Alberta, Hon. Herbert Greenfield, was injured in a motor accident recently near Hobbs, Alberta, when the car in which she was a passenger was hit by a lumber-laden truck. The truck driver was killed by the impact.

TIRED, ACHING, SWOLLEN FEET

Moon's Emerald Oil Guaranteed to Stop All Pain and Soreness and Banish Offensive Odors.

In just one minute after an application of Emerald Oil you'll get the surprise of your life. Your tired, tender, smarting, burning feet will literally jump for joy.

No fuss, no trouble; you just apply a few drops of the oil over the surface of the foot night and morning, or when occasion requires. Just a little and rub it in. It's simply wonderful the way it ends all foot misery, while for feet that sweat and give off an offensive odor, there's nothing better in the world.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually.

The Blairmore Pharmacy and every good druggist guarantees Moon's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

AS FOR PEACE!

There are, after all, more reasons for the United States and Japan to be friendly than there are for them to be enemies.

The neighboring country is Japan's best customer; Japan, in turn, buys heavily from the United States, and the development of Japan's Asiatic conquests should logically open still larger markets to American manufacturers.

As both nations prepare for trouble, it should be possible for their statesmen to work out a way whereby they could continue to live in peace.

Self-interest on both sides of the Pacific dictates such a course—Glasgow Free Lance.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

First silver to be flown out from Great Bear Lake was valued at approximately $4,000. It was flown out to Edmonton by Pilot John Bythell.

Cocaine-borne traffic at the five ports of the Kwangtung Leased Territory in Manchuria in the first seven months of this year was greater than in the same period of 1931 and 1930.

The whole village of Capelan, a small Portuguese fishing community near Ponta Delgada, was enriched recently when 100 pounds of ambergris were found in the carcass of a whale which stranded on the beach.

Dr. Hugo Eckener has concluded an agreement with the Brazilian Government for all-year Zeppelin service between Europe and Brazil. Brazil agreed to erect suitable housing facilities for the airship.

William Cody Bradford, 60, a nephew of Colonel William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody, shot himself to death at his home in Casper, Wyoming. He was believed to have been despondent because of ill health.

The U.S. Government is considering asking the next session of congress for authority to negotiate commercial treaties embodying reciprocal tariff concessions, particularly with Canada and Latin-American countries.

Hubert Scott-Paine will make a second and determined effort to bring the Harmsworth speed-boat trophy from Gar Wood, American titleholder, in 1934. A definite statement to this effect came from the British pilot in Sarnia.

Kittilano Boys' Band, fresh from its world triumph at the Chicago World's Fair, was welcomed home to Vancouver by thousands of persons and massed bands gathered at the railway station. Later they were officially welcomed at the Canada Pacific exhibition.

International Highway
Practically Completed

Attractive Scenic Route From Peace River District To San Diego

A new international tourist highway connecting Canada and the United States is practically completed and will be known chiefly under the name of the Sunshine Highway. This highway, the only international project of its size east of the Rocky Mountains, connects Alberta's extensive highway system with that of the States of Montana, Nevada and California, making an attractive scenic route along the eastern base of the Rockies from the Peace River District in Northern Alberta to San Diego, California, on the south, a distance of more than 2,500 miles.

Announcement of the completion of the new route was given at the Sunshine Trail Convention recently held in Lethbridge, Alberta. That stretch of the new highway running through Alberta, from the United States-Canadian border southwest of Lethbridge to the Peace River, a distance of 725 miles, has been completed for some time. Montana is now engaged in completing the last link of the highway in that State.

For the larger portion of the distance this highway is an all-weather route, being travelled in Alberta to 50 miles north of the city of Edmonton, about 420 miles. The route through Montana, which is Highway No. 91 of that state, is all-weather road the entire distance. From Salt Lake City north to Peace River is a distance of over 1,800 miles.

The new highway gives easy access to the Rocky Mountain resorts of Montana and Alberta by connecting all-weather roads.

Australia's New Currency

Water-Mark Shows Head Of Prince Of Wales

The head of the Prince of Wales, in profile, is one of the innovations introduced in the new currency notes shortly to be put into circulation in Australia. The prince's head will replace the commonwealth coat-of-arms water-mark. When held up to the light the features of the head to the throne will be seen facing those of the King.

Another change is that the promise to pay in gold has been deleted.

Advance In Television

Berlin's big radio show registers marked advances in television. New devices increase picture transmission from the old limit of 90 lines to 180 lines on a 15 by 15 centimeter surface, with almost perfect results. In transmitting 25 pictures per second 1,000,000 points are flashed off. It is this speed and closeness that give excellent reproductions.

Clock Made Many Trips

Timepiece Of Pacific Liner Now In Radio Room At Regina

A clock, which made 362 trips across the Pacific Ocean to China on the old "Empress of Japan," and which for the past 11 years has been lying in an office in Vancouver now adorns the radio operating room of CKCK, Regina, Saskatchewan.

Some 12 years ago, Bert Hooper, engineer of CKCK, but then wireless operator on the staff of the Canadian Marconi Company, was placed on board the "Empress" by his company as operator in charge of the ship's wireless system.

Mr. Hooper had then been with the Marconi Company some six years and was aboard the "Empress" for nearly two years.

When the "Empress" was sold and dismantled records and some of the equipment was taken ashore and placed in the Vancouver office of the Marconi Company.

Some weeks ago Mr. Hooper visited the coast and called upon his old chief, L. S. Hawkins, superintendent of the Pacific Coast Division of the Canadian Marconi Company.

Before leaving he was presented with the timepiece which hung in the wireless operating room of the "Empress."

Erected On Site Where Marconi Made Radio Experiments

Signal Officer Marconi is "extremely gratified" to know a modern wireless station has been erected on Signal Hill, site of his earliest experiments in trans-Atlantic wireless telegraphy.

Following the opening of the new Signal Hill Station, the inventor of the wireless telegraph Premier F. C. McMillan said as follows: "I recollect with keenest pleasure my associations with your country and the generous support given me by its government during my earliest tests with trans-Atlantic wireless communication, and am extremely gratified to know that on the very site where those tests were carried out, a modern station is now installed embodying latest developments."

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

RIPE GRAPE JAM

4½ cups (2½ lbs.) prepared fruit.
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar.
½ bottle fruit pectin.

Prepare fruit, slip skins from about 1 pound fully ripe grapes. Simmer pulp, covered, 5 minutes. Remove seeds by sieving. Chop or grind skins and add to pulp. Add ½ cup water and if desired, grated rind of 1 orange. Stir until mixture boils. Simmer covered, 30 minutes. (Wine grapes, Malaga and other light-skinned grapes may be stemmed, crushed whole, simmered with ½ cup water 30 minutes, sieved, and then measured. With light-skinned grapes add prepared fruit to water.) Use 4 cups prepared fruit.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Pour half 1 minute. Remove from fire and add a set of gold tooth for himself and his aqua. Their teeth are all right, but what's the use of having $33,000 if you can't let the world know about it?" Joe said.

FRUIT RAISIN SALAD

(Serves 6)

Lettuce.
6 oranges.
¼ cup seeded raisins.
Arrange shredded lettuce on individual salad plates. Peel and slice oranges and arrange in circles on lettuce. Fill center of circle with raisins which have been steamed until plump. Serve with Sweet French dressing or with orange juice mixed with equal parts of honey or jelly.

Indian Wants Gold Teeth

Joe Dillon, full-blooded Sisseton Indian, is coming south of Fort Smith, N.W.T., for the first time in his life. He is bound for San Francisco on holiday after selling a big silver claim for $35,000, and his first act will be to get a set of gold teeth for himself and his aqua. Labrador Huskies Ready For Byrd Expedition

About Fifty Wolf-Dogs Have Been Carefully Selected

Labrador huskies will work hand in hand with aeroplanes during the next Byrd expedition to "Little America," starting from Boston, October 1.

The expedition will last two years, with the S.S. Pacific Pie (8,000-ton) and the barquentine, "Bear of Oakland," as the supply ships. Two or three aeroplanes are to be taken along, to augment those used in the last expedition by the United States explorer, as well as something like 50 magnificent specimens of Labrador and Quebec husky, or wolf-dogs.

Some 45 of these maulmates have been sent to Wonalancet, New Hampshire, which is where rear Admiral Byrd selected his first batch of dogs for the Antarctic. Arthur Wadden, veteran dog racing man, makes his home in the New England city, and it was Wadden's friend, Baldy, who accompanied Byrd on all expeditions until the day when, getting old and feeble, he walked out into the icy cold, and was never seen again.

The canines were loaded at Quebec into a huge truck, each one crated, and sent off to Wonalancet.

With plans for the expedition, which will be one of scientific research, under way for the next two years, or more, nothing is being left to chance, and the same careful selection was made of dogs as of members of the expedition.

According to plans, the expedition will get under way Oct. 1, after the S.S. Pacific Pie has been re-christened, and will steam out of Boston harbor, to make its way along the Panama Canal, through that waterway, and into the Pacific Ocean, then heading for New Zealand, which will be where they will leave civilization behind.

Geological and meteorological studies will be carried out, as well as oceanographical researches, which the expedition will also delve into the cosmic ray. They expect to return with priceless information.

Export Of Meats

Figures Show Export Went Over Million Mark In July

Canada's export of meats was again over the million dollar mark in July; the actual value being $1,039,134 compared with $741,712 in July, 1932. The chief item was bacon and hams, the total of which was 74,305 cwt. valued at $854,627. The amount sent to the United Kingdom was 75,003 cwt. at $527,428, out of a total most export to Great Britain of $942,364. A year ago the bacon and ham export to Great Britain was 48,795 cwt. at $502,768. The figures were released today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A rapidly growing export is in canned meats. It has multiplied almost three times in the last 12 months. The July quantity was 113,512 pounds, valued at $20,841, the amount to Great Britain being 106,893 pounds at $19,393.

Reverence For Ancestors

Though Quong Lee, believed to be the world's first Chinese telephone subscriber, is long since dead, his name is listed in the new San Francisco telephone directory. It has appeared regularly for 18 years, and all telephone company officials said they presumed Quong's sons and grandsons continue to have his name listed because of the Chinese reverence for ancestors.

Explanations and Comments

The Great Procession With The Ark And The Tabernacle, Chapter 8:1-5.—It was during the Feast of Tabernacles, which began on the fifteenth of the seventh month and lasted seven days (Leviticus 23:34), that the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes brought up the ark of the covenant out of the city of David, which is Zion. "Both the House of Commons and the House of Lords were present, as we would put it, for the elders were the chosen representatives of the people, and the princes of the fathers' houses were the hereditary leaders. In addition, there was a vast attendance of the rank and file."—R. C. Gille. Two processions advanced from different directions.

One came from Gibeon and bore the sacred tabernacle with its goats-hair covering and boards of acacia wood, and all its holy vessels—the brass altar, the golden candlesticks, the table of showbread, and the brazen serpent. On Mount Zion this procession joined the other which bore the ark away from its temporary tent erected for it in Jerusalem by David. As the two processions proceeded to the temple, Solomon and a great congregation with him sacrificed a host of sheep and oxen. The roof (such was the traditional picture preserved by Josephus) was flooded with streams of incense. The air was darkened and scented with the clouds of incense; the songs and dances were uninterrupted. Overhead the procession moved up the slope of the hill. It entered court after court of the temple, it reached the "Holy Place."—Stanley. By this lavish slaughter Solomon was honoring God in the best way known in those days. It was a primitive method of saying that king and people set no limits to the honor they would show Jehovah.

The Ark, Chapter 8:10.—There was nothing in the Ark save the two tables of stone. Hebrews 9:4 speaks also of a golden pot holding manna, and Aaron's rod that budded, but the next verse adds, "of which things we cannot now speak severally." Hebrews is here incorrect, or else the pot and rod were once in the ark and were lost during its sojourn among the Philistines. The tables of the law in the Ark were a constant reminder that God's promises were the basis of the nation's dependence on their keeping His law.

"If a man love Me, he will keep My commandments," said Christ, "and My Father will love him, and we will come unto him and make our abode with him." The indwelling of the Spirit in our hearts depends upon our obedience to Christ's words.

Nature's Nitrogen Store

Agency Used By Nature For Maintaining Productivity Of The Soil

Humus, the vegetable matter in soil in the form of the semi-decomposed remains of past generations of plants, is nature's storehouse for nitrogen. As the humus in a soil is increased, so is the nitrogen increased or decreased. Humus performs the useful purpose of so favourably affecting the physical condition of both clays and sands that it renders them suitable for the support of crops. It furnishes the material upon which the nitro-organisms of the soil feed, thus fostering a valuable agency in the preparation of plant food. And, again, it serves in the maintenance of soil fertility by constantly liberating in its decomposition certain small amounts of mineral matter in forms peculiarly available for absorption by the roots of plants.—Dominion Chemist.

Unusual Things Do Happen

Stories Which Appear Ridiculous Are Often True

A visitor who says he always had an idea we made up our little stories about happenings around town—which we cross our heart we never do—changed his mind when he saw a well-dressed young man searching a Fifth Avenue gutter for discarded cigarettes. He had collected one or two when a trim young woman walked up to him, opened her purse, and offered him a whole package of cigarettes. He started to take them, hesitated, and said, "Thanks, but I don't smoke that kind." They both blushed and walked on.—The New Yorker.

Britain's Pilgrim Of Peace

Sir Arthur Henderson Trying To Sell "Disarmament" To Europe

The traveller for peace recently made his second call on Rome, having arrived there from Paris.

He is Arthur Henderson, once a member of the British cabinet, now the pilgrim of peace, the man who is trying to "sell" disarmament to Europe.

He is a traveller without a bag of samples, without advertising, without anything tangible to show. Arthur Henderson is selling an idea, an ideal. He is trying to persuade the governments of Europe to invest in peace.

He travels alone from capital to capital. He sees and talks to statesmen and politicians. After Paris, Rome; then on to Berlin; with Prague, Budapest, Warsaw, Vienna and London third.

The firm Mr. Henderson represents is the League of Nations, Geneva. The assignment of his head travel is on, is one of the most hopeless ever entrusted to an international statesman, although it is not entirely hopeless.

For eighteen months Mr. Henderson, whom everybody in his line of business calls "Uncle Arthur," has been selling peace. When at the last general election he lost his seat at Burnley, Uncle Arthur disappeared into the comparative obscurity of his League Assembly at Geneva to become chairman of the disarmament conference.

For months and months Mr. Henderson labored to bring about international agreement on disarmament. He was patient, conciliatory, hard working.

Then it looked as though failure stared him in the face. The conference broke down.

Mr. Henderson issued a solemn warning to the nations. "The delegations," he said, "realize that they must now choose between disarmament and rearmament, between constructive international collaboration and a course which leads to destruction, between a future of peace and order and a future of war and chaos for the world."

Before adjourning until October 25 the conference asked Mr. Henderson to try to negotiate agreements by direct conversations with the powers.

Uncle Arthur started out alone to sell disarmament to the nations. In some capitals of Europe he knew that he might receive a chilly welcome. But he was prepared to wait on many a door mat if he felt that he could save the conference from failure.

Backed By The Law

Any Request From Income Tax Department Cannot Be Ignored

Many a man ordered to make a return of his income to that department of the government which supervises the collection of the income tax thinks it is a piece of nonsense for him to be asked to do so when his total income falls short of the taxable figure.

Perhaps it is, but the department has the law on its side. This was proved a few days ago when a resident of an eastern community was assessed $25 and costs by a police magistrate because he had failed to meet the wishes of the department.

The department asked this man as long ago as July, 1932, to make a declaration of his income. He failed to do so and after the lapse of over a year, he was halled into court and fined. It mattered not, it appears, that his income for the year 1931 fell short of the taxable figure. To the police court he must go and pay the fine of $25.

It may be considered the most unnecessary thing in the world, it may be regarded as stupidity, an idle waste of time or anything else, but when you receive a letter from the Income Tax Department asking you to make a declaration of your income, it is not always safe to ignore it. Proceedings such as those instituted may be the penalty for ignoring the summons.

Treated Threat Lightly

Threatened with the death penalty, 40 city councilors of Scotland just laughed. When they announced their intention to fly the Scottish standard to commemorate the Battle of Bannockburn, it became the duty of a high official to warn them that it was illegal. He also deemed it necessary to call their attention to the old law making death the penalty for flying the standard without royal consent. It was then that a laugh was heard across Scotland.

The third Sunday in each year has been set by the National Council of Ramblers' Federation of Great Britain as a national Sunday for ramblers.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful, falls in love with Peter Anson, fellow student in an art school. She is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family, and he is a poor, struggling sculptor. On their first date Peter spends most of his money to show Camilla a good time, and then decides he must give her up because he can not stand the financial pace. A chance meeting, however, paves the way for another date. This time they walk in the park. Camilla tells Peter that she is not rich; or, at least, will not inherit the Hoyt fortune. Peter in turn confesses he is practically penniless. They fall into each other's arms.

(Now to On With The Story.)

CHAPTER VIII

When Camilla and Peter had gratified the weeks of their longing for love of each other with incoherent words and repeated kisses, Peter held her off and exclaimed, "To think how near I came to losing you! And I should have, if you had not told me the truth!"

"That was why I dared to tell you, because I had to. And at the same time, I was sure that when I did it would be the way things happen, is there?"

Peter was silent for a minute, then turned aside from her suddenly and exclaimed, "But, Camilla, don't you see, dear—not being Miss Hoyt makes it all the more impossible for you to love me."

"What do you mean, Peter?" alarmed.

"Because I have no money, either. I can't take care of you—oh, for years—perhaps never. Mrs. Hoyt is right—you must find someone to love who has plenty of money to take care of you."

"But didn't I just tell you that I was preparing to take care of myself?"

"Oh—that! For awhile—yes. But you must think of your future."

"That is just what I am thinking of—what my future would be without love."

"Surely, there is someone you could care about who has money and influences that will give you the happiness you deserve." He did not sound very convincing but he was trying to be generous.

"There is no one in the world who can make me happy, except you, Peter." She pressed her face close on his shoulder like a forlorn child seeking protection.

"Precious! Camilla, you make me wild. If only I could make you happy!"

"You can if you love me enough, softly."

"Love you? I love you too much! But I can't take care of you for ever so long, and perhaps I never could give you what you have had."

"Will you stop saying that, Peter?" she demanded severely. "I don't want the things I have had—ever. I want you—oh, Peter, darling, I love you so! Don't send me away from you! Her hands reached up and clasped around his neck. Her lips lifted to his. Peter took them, eagerly, lost to all practical reasoning."

They murmured together, "I won't, darling, I promise. We'll find a way."

Presently, it was Camilla who drew away suddenly and exclaimed, "Why, Peter, it is you who should marry a girl with a fortune, so that you can be free to study and work without worrying about money. That would mean everything to you. I'm sorry I forgot your side of it, Peter dear. I'll go away and take care of myself and find someone else." Now it was Camilla who tried to be cheerful and convincing and generous.

Peter drew her close with an indulgent laugh. "You precious little goose! What should I have to work for if I lost you? Having you would be my surest chance of success."

Camilla. With you for my inspiration, the sky's the limit for me. We shall dream and work together, you and I. There are dreams in your eyes, that promise me so much, darling. How we shall live together!"

"You are sweet!" she told him, timidly caressing his face.

"But I haven't told you all about me, dear. I have no family here, except some older brothers and sisters."

WEAK WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Have you ever felt that you were too weak to do anything... that you did not have the strength to do your work? Women who are weak and run down should take a tonic such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The headaches and backaches that are the result of a tired, run-down condition often lead to this marvelous remedy.

who are married and involved in their own affairs. I lost my mother and dad when I was only a kid, and I lived with my oldest sister until I could take care of myself. I wasn't very old when I started on my own."

"Such a brave little fellow you must have been. Why should I be afraid that you can't take care of me some day, then?"

"Well, that's different. I get along somehow on very little. You are sure you don't mind that I came to America in the steerage class and my mother wrote a shawl over her head?"

"Why, Peter Anson! Why should I mind that? So did my mother come to America with a shawl over her head and suffer the bewilderment and fears of Ellis Island."

"What's the difference, anyway," she continued, "just a few generations? We all came from across the Atlantic, yet the first arrivals scored the later ones. Because they beat us to it, I suppose. But as soon as the biggest high-hats have prospered with freedom and the democracy that they never practice, they go back where they came from. They go abroad to exploit their wealth to the poor relatives they left behind, to buy continental culture, to absorb the genius of great foreign masters or revel in the historical grandeur of the old world. Even you believe that to complete your education, you must go abroad. Then why are you ashamed to have come from there?"

"You are marvelous!" Peter, declared solemnly.

"So are you! Do you know what you reminded me of the first time I saw you?"

"Ave tank any go home?" he laughed.

Her finger tapped his cheek with gentle reproach. "Of course not! Will you stop being ridiculous? You always make me think of Viking ships and brave adventurers in search of conquest and new lands. You are like your beautiful, brave country. Your hair is like the gold of the sun that never sets in that long northern summer, your strength is like the rugged cliffs of the coastline, your eyes are like the sparkling blue ice of the stern winters."

He chuckled with joy at her delightful rags. "Do I still remind you of an iceberg since I've kissed you?"

"No, I've changed my mind about your being an relation to ice. You must be the fire of the northern lights, the son of Aurora Borealis," she bantered.

"Just for that, I'll burn you up," he warned her, kissing her again. He held her away to exult in her beauty. "Shall I tell you what you remind me of?"

"Please do! I hope it is something very nice."

"Everything nice—of sunny southern skies and brilliant flowers, intoxicating fragrance and sparkling blue waters, of glamorous tropical moonlight and music and gay laughter."

"I hope I always shall remind you of such lovely things, Peter."

"Happy, dearest?"

"So happy. I shall never be unhappy again."

"Or blue?"

"Nor blue!"

After awhile, he said, "But we haven't planned for the future at all. There is so much to decide. Everything is different now."

"Peter," she said severely, "if you let our love change your plans and ambitions the least bit, I shall be very unhappy."

"But I didn't have you in those plans. Now I have you and want to fit you into them from the beginning.

"Please tell me just what you had planned to do before you found me. Her tone was as matter-of-fact as if they were only new business partners.

"But that is the past—before I found you," Peter objected.

"Tell me, anyway," she insisted.

"Why, there was nothing very definite except that I was going to work very hard and sacrifice everything to succeed. I had planned to enter something in the National exhibit next fall to complete for the Paris scholarship. On the long chance that I won it, I hoped to make enough to pay my expenses over there by doing anything I could—just as I've worked my way through National. Perhaps a guide or interpreter. I know French pretty well—and Swedish and Scandinavian."

"I have Spanish and French and some Italian," Camilla added. "We might start a foreign language school."

"Or build a tower of Babel."

"We'll let the children do that," she reminded him, slyly.

"Do I Still Remind You Of An Iceberg?"

them, for awhile, just seeing each other when we can, then?"

"Not going to the Majestic and the Maddox. Oh, Peter, that was terrible. You must let me pay you back the money you spent that night."

"Don't say that, dear. If I always have as much pleasure from the money I spend as that gave, I'll get enough from life. Please don't mention it again."

"All right. But you must not spend your money on me again. We can walk and talk together in the park often, and have little picnics this summer when you are not too busy."

So they planned confidentially, as so many lovers who know little of the caprices of life may dare; for to them the future always beckons along a straight shining road.

Cambridge Scientists

Return From Expedition

Bring New Species Of Animals and Reptiles From Jungle

Many animals, reptiles and insects hitherto unknown to man were discovered by three young Cambridge scientists who landed at Plymouth from an expedition into an unexplored jungle of the British Cameroons.

The adventurers L. T. Sanderson G. Russell and H. P. Seaton, members of the Percy Sladen expedition, have brought with them a collection of 7,000 specimens, in search of which they have penetrated into country hitherto untrod by white men.

The collection includes: Flying squirrels equipped with "parachutes" of varied colors by which they fly from tree to tree.

A pig-like animal belonging to a species thought to have vanished ages ago.

A five-foot male gorilla. One hundred and fifty specimens of mammals.

Thousands of rats, bats, frogs and apes.

A frog that is covered in hair and another that has claws.

Mr. Sanderson stated that he had two gorillas, one of which died in captivity.

The natives, he said, are convinced that the gorilla is a "retrograde human being," with habits that are human, but they considered that the chimpanzee is definitely a monkey.

"In the Assam district," he added, "we discovered an uncharted mountain range, which appeared geologically to be of comparatively recent formation."

"Our most thrilling experience was when we were lost in thick virgin jungle. We were surrounded by impenetrable forest, and then one day we sensed rather than heard, the sound of native drumming, and by following for a day and a night we came to a native village and so found ourselves again."

Beautiful Indian Capital

Everything In Jalpur Is Built On Fairyland Basis

The Maharajah of Jalpur, who has been in the limelight more than once of late, returns to it again by winning the Prince of Wales' Cup at Burlington with his polo team.

His native Jalpur sounds like an odd beautiful dream for everything there seems to be built on a fairyland basis. The houses in the capital are painted in every conceivable shade of pink and blue, delicately traced with patterns of other colors, and tiny green shutters are on every window. There are peacocks in the streets, and the royal stables near the palace are crowded with horses and elephants. A touch of realism is added by the Maharajah's private observatory, but even it is unusual, for it contains the world's largest sundial.

Making Six-Year Tour

English Chef Collecting Recipes From Every Country In World

A Salford chef, Harold Hogan, is engaged on the queerest world tour ever known, for he is journeying 35,000 miles in search of little-known recipes in order that he may add variety to Britain's culinary tastes.

Already he has visited Denmark, Germany, Ireland, Scotland, Norway and Sweden, and already his pockets are bulging with recipes which he has obtained in foreign lands.

After a short sojourn in Salford he is off to France, Italy, Spain, Turkey, South Africa, Australia, America and Canada, where he hopes to secure thousands of appetizing recipes.

His novel world search for recipes will take him six years—and at the end he should be the most knowledgeable chef in the world.

Retirement Well Earned

Two Sisters Served As Missionaries For 35 Years

Coral stone churches on scattered South Sea Isles, a school for Micronesian boys and girls, the Bible and other Christian literature and school textbooks translated into Kusaian—these are some of the results of the work of two American sisters who started out from Newark, N.J., 35 years ago and now have just been retired.

The sisters are the Misses Elizabeth and Jane Baldwin, and their retirement was voted by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

For 20 years the sisters were the only white persons on the small island, Kusaia, on which they lived. They nursed the islanders through sickness; remained with them through hurricanes of furious tropical storms; and helped them through succeeding famines.

After translating school books, with their own hands the sisters prepared them for printing. Books were laboriously turned out on an old hand press until, on their twenty-fifth anniversary in the islands, a machine press was sent from Boston.

Everything has been done or planned by the two women. Thus, when a cement reservoir and typhoon house was built, Miss Elizabeth supervised the erection herself.

Members of the First Presbyterian Church at Newark, they sailed to the island first under the Woman's Board of Missions, now united with the American Board. In all their years in the islands, they never had accepted any compensation.

Only once have they visited America, in 1911. Miss Elizabeth, who was 39 when she left America, is now 74 and nearly blind. Miss Jane, who was only 25 when she sailed is now 60.

A girl who has never been married, she never had accepted any compensation.

Little Helps For This Week

"O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God; how unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past finding out."—Romans 11:33.

No star is ever lost we once have seen.

We always may be what we might have been.

Since good, though only thought, has life and breath, God's life can always be redeemed from death.

And evil in its nature is decay. And any hour can blot it all away: The hope that's lost in some far distance seem May be the truer life, and this the dream.

—A. A. Proctor.

St. Bernard has said: "Man if thou desirest a noble and holy life, and unceasing prayer to God for it, if thou continue constant in this thy desire, it will be granted to thee without fail. And if God has not given it to thee, thou shalt find it in Him in eternity; of this be assured." Therefore do not relinquish your desire though it be not fulfilled immediately, or though you may ever from your aspirations or even forget them for a while. The love and aspiration which once existed live forever before God, and in Him ye shall find the fruit thereof; that is, to all eternity, it shall be better for you than if you had never felt them.—J. Tauler.

Train Accidents

Seven Passengers Killed On Canadian Roads Last Year

Last year there were seven passenger killed and 829 injured in train accidents, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics says in a report issued recently. This was an average of one killed for every 3,000,000 carried, and one injured for every 62,000.

Injuries to passengers ranged from scratches and bruises to more serious injuries. Two passengers were killed in collisions, two fell from trains, two were killed getting on or off trains, and one from other causes.

There were 57 employees killed in train accidents and 857 injured, says the report, a low record for the last 22 years. There were 94 persons killed at highway crossings, of which 78 were motorists, and of this number 70 were killed at protected crossings.

As a result of home-printed advertising, the sale conducted by C. Hislop at Cowley on Saturday last proved to be a real success. People in general today have got to realize that advertising properly presented and in large and readable form is deserving of their support.

A picnic and sports, staged by the Red element of the Crows' Nest Pass in Blaimore on Labor Day, reports quite a deficit, which they expect the ratepayers of Blaimore to make good. It is time the provincial authorities stepped in to put a stop to this mal-administration of local municipal affairs.

The sale conducted by Mr. Hislop at the Busy Store, Cowley, last Saturday, and advertised through the medium of nicely printed sale bills, the work of the Enterprise office, although intended to cover a period of ten days, lasted only a day. The entire $6,000 stock was cleared out in less than a day.
